Outspoken Sermon Given At Mass In Cathedral

"LIFE WITHOUT PEACE IS UNBEARABLE; PEACE WITHOUT JUSTICE IS UNATTAINABLE; AND JUSTICE, WITHOUT SOME MEASURE OF LOVE, IS UNTHINK-ABLE," declared the Right Rev. Mgr. H. Regarded as the most important addition to the Catholic Church calendar for many years, the Feast was instituted in 1925 for the purpose, as declared in the Encyclical Letter of the Pope, in order to give due homage to Christ, as the first-born of the human race and the ruler, by Divine right, of all men and all nations.

The Mass in the morning was attended by all devout Catholics in the Colony and was marked by the attendance of the combined choirs "Offensive" of the Cathedral and St. Joseph's Church.

In the course of his sermon,

BEAT NAVY: EASTERN GOALS SCORED IN FAST SOCCER GAME

When Eastern met the Royal Navy in the First Division Soccer League yesterday at the Hongkong Football Club ground, they set up such a terrific pace of play, that one wondered how... long the speed would be maintained.

The sailors, however, were up to the occasion. Combining "well and passing with amazing accuracy, they played the Chinese at their speed, often defeating them in the exchanges. But this was only in the first half, at the end of which the whistle went with the score one-all.

AIR WAR

THE REJECTION of the Nazi proposals for the termination of the war, the conclusion of the Turkish treaty and, finally, the advantage gained by the Allies as a result of the passing of the amended American Neutrality Act are all factors which bring closer the decisive trial of military strength between Germany, Great Britain and France.

theatre of war has been the Germany has sunk much merchant tonnage and two first class British warships. The British navy has instituted a system of blockade and contraband control which ensures that no supplies will reach German ports and, in addition, has destroyed a number of submarines and seized a certain amount of enemy shipping.

there has been no major activity, and the demobilization of several sections of port; in other words, the real war French man-power suggests that none is expected in the near future. In the air, too, neither side has shown its strength.

place. The logical military corollary of this reasoing is to make things as difficult as possible for England and as easy as possible for Francein other words, to make Britain bear the full brunt of the German attack.

SUCH EXPERIENCED and well-informed commentators as J. L. Garvin believe that this attack will be launched soon. They expect "it to assume the form of great-mass air raids, such as were predicted in all imaginative accounts of "the future war' before the war actually began. There is talk even of an invasion of the British Isles by German land forces. The blow from the air is an ever present menace. invasion is, at present, fantastic improbability.

TO MAKE ACTION against England really effective, while at the same time increasing the military threat to France, the Germans must have bases more profitably situated, geographically, than those they at present possess. The danger of a Nazi march through the Low Countries, tradition-5.30 ally the key to both British and French security, is constantly growing.

this course. He can have no illusions concerning the sufficiency of mere air bombing to break the resistance of a whole people and the limit-The Annual General Meeting ed vulnerability, from the air, Morning Post Ltd., on protected by the world's most naval power. The productive capacity of his airplane factories is not in excess of those of England, and his fuel reserves are certainly far less. Moreover, Britain's ability to replace losses, of equipment. raw material and industrial plant, is greater than Germany's.

SHOULD THE REICH resort to the "knockout blow" type of attack, there will be nothing to stop the total war which has been so freely predicted, and so terribly feared, from engulfing Western Europe. The slaughter will be protracted and horrible, and, unless the foundations of a new and juster order in human affairs are laid in the process, there will be, in the real sense, no victors—just as there were no victors at the end of the last war and during the years of travail which followed.

COTTON: The active domestic and export demand, for "spot cotton, coupled with the growers' holding movement, has resulted in an advancing tendency in cotton prices. With the recent extremely dry weather in the western part of the belt, the next crop estimate may have to be revised lower, RUBBER: The market eased on back of interest. The weakness in Sterling was an adverse factor. WHEAT: The "continuance of drought conditions in the South-West with no indication of an immediate relief continues to

EUROPEAN WAR WILL NOT HINDER CHINA'S ARMED RESISTANCE

HINGTSL Oct. 26 (Central), "No foreign war can hinder our armed resistance and far less to undermine our established national policy." declared Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Forces in an interview to-day.

Gen. Yen said that though the European war might have some effect upon China, there need be no undue pessimism among the Chinese, for China has been fighting independently against the aggressor;

"Under present circumstances China's foreign policy should continue to be one of. independence and self-reliance, though she should at the same time seize every opportunity to secure foreign assistance," Gen. Yen remarked.
